DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-10 are pending in this application, which is a CON of PCT/EP02/10051.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1, 3-10, drawn to a method, classified in class 427, subclass 404.
- II. Claim 2-3, drawn to an apparatus, classified in class 118, subclass 715+.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process such as etching.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

During a telephone conversation with Wesley Whitmeyer on June 10, 2005, a provisional election was made with traverse to prosecute the invention of Group I, claims 1, 3-10.

Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 2-3 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Specification

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The abstract should be amended to delete the phrase "The invention relates to".

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

It is noted that the claimed invention is directed solely to a method. The examiner suggests amending the title to reflect same.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 3, the preamble "process or apparatus" is vague and confusing as independent claim 1, from which claim 3 depends from, is directed only to a process.

Art Unit: 1762

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1, 3-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over

Wadley et al. (6,478,931) or Green et al. (4,499,152). Wadley discloses a method for producing a multilayer structure by physical vapor deposition (col.5 lines 2-18). A substrate 189 is placed in a vacuum chamber 181 (col.6 line 57 – col.7 line 27) where processing gases are subsequently inserted (col.7 lines 29-50). A residual gas analyzer is utilized (col.7 line 40). The material layers can be metal (col.8 lines 20-22). Pressure and particle flux can be varied (col.9 lines 22, 52-67).

Green discloses a method of forming a metal-clad laminate in which a metal and oxides are vapor deposited on a carrier (col.2 lines 27-38). A residual gas analyzer is utilized (col.3 line 41). A vacuum pump is utilized in the deposition chamber to reduce undesired materials (col.3 lines 28-32).

However, the reference remains silent on purging between steps.

Art Unit: 1762

It is well known in vapor deposition to purge utilizing inert gases for the expressed purpose of reducing contamination. Hence, it would have been obvious to utilize a purge gas with the expectation of obtaining a higher quality film.

The limitations of claims 3-10 have been addressed above.
